THE PRIZE FIGHT.

Peter Jackson Knocks Out Frank P. Slavin.

IT ONLY TOOK TEN ROUNDS.

The Championship of Australia Decided for a Purse of Ten Thousand Dollars. Slavin Badly Punished, While Jackson Was Little the Worse from the Fight. Details of the Fight by Rounds.

LONDON, May 31.—The fight between Peter Jackson and Frank P. Slavin for the championship of Australia and a purse of $10,000 took place yesterday evening at the National Sporting club. The result was the victory of Jackson in the tenth round.

Although the members of the club who had seats reserved subscribed from $25 to $500 each for the privilege and paid $125 more for every guest introduced, the hall was crowded to its full capacity.

According to social and sporting standards a finer audience never gathered to witness a prize fight in this city. Almost every conspicuous sportsman in the city was present, elbowing his neighbor, some member of the high aristocracy. Most of the audience were in evening dress.

R. J. Angle, who refereed the Sullivan-Mitchell fight in France, was selected as the referee. Lord Lonsdale introduced the principals in a neat speech in which he said fair play would be given both men. The principals were weighed. Slavin turned the scales at 185 pounds and Jackson at 192.

Slavin was seconded by Tom Burrows, of London, Tom Williams and his own brother, Jack. Charley Mitchell, who was selected by Slavin at first as one of his seconds, was not allowed to enter the club on account of his gentlemanly conduct in the club house one evening some time ago. Jackson's seconds were "Parson" Charles Davies, of Chicago; Joe Choyinski, of San Francisco, and Harry Smith, of London.

Previous to the fight the customary sparring exhibition took place. The contestants were Tom Williams and Tom Burrows, both of whom were Slavin's trainers. The other exhibition was between amateurs, named White and Bowmen.

The betting which had ruled at 7 to 4 in Slavin's favor, was reduced to 5 to 4 and eventually to 11 to 10 when the men entered the ring, which was twenty feet square, instead of the regular twenty-four foot ring.

After the preliminary boxing exhibition, a dead silence ensued. Jackson entered the ring first. He walked with a firm step and his bearing showed marked confidence. Slavin entered shortly afterward. The men at once shook hands and took their corners.

Upon the call of "time," at 11:15, both men walked briskly to the center of the ring. Jackson seemed to be fully two inches taller than Slavin. But little time was wasted in sparring.

First round—Slavin led for Jackson's body. Jackson, however, avoided him. Slavin followed him up and Jackson countered on his nose. This aroused Slavin's ire and he got home with his right on Jackson's body. Both men then "fiddled" all around the ring. The round ended with little damage done on either side.

Second round—Slavin seemed anxious to get to work and led with both hands, one after the other, but Jackson's long left was always in the way. The black man drew first blood by landing a straight punch full on Slavin's mouth and nose. First blood claimed and allowed for Jackson. Slavin's friends seemed confident, nevertheless, that Paddy's body blows would speedily tell on the negro. Jackson relied on his left to take the sting out of these blows.

Third round—The men left their corners with alacrity. Jackson did not feel the heat which was stifling in the club room and looked brisk and fresh. On the other hand, Slavin's face showed plainly the punishment he had received. Again Slavin led. He began by placing his right heavily on Jackson's ribs. He did not hurt the negro, however, and the latter smiled back at him confidently. Some sharp infighting was indulged in, and in it, Jackson showed his superiority. Time was called, the round ending in favor of the negro. Both men were slightly groggy.

Fourth round—At the beginning of this round, Slavin's backers weakened and tried to hedge out their money. Jackson opened hostilities by landing hard in Slavin's face with his left and followed it up with a terrific right-hander in the same place. Slavin's face now assumed the hue of a boiled lobster. He was bleeding all over and did not seem to mind the awful punishment he was suffering. He sometimes reached for the negro, but his blows were weak.

Fifth round—The white Australian seemed to be getting the worst of the fight, and if he was to win at all the end must come soon. Jackson was partly defensive now, and forced the fighting. He landed both hands, one after the other, full in Slavin's face and neatly avoided any return. Slavin, however, followed up his antagonist, only to receive more punishment. The round ended in Jackson's favor.

Sixth round—At this stage of the fight odds were offered freely on Jackson, but met with no takers. Slavin rallied slightly, but he did not make any headway. From this point on the battle never seemed to be in doubt. Jackson did not throw away a chance, but kept delivering his left in Slavin's face and stepping away from Slavin's counters. Slavin seemed very groggy and his blows were wildly erratic.

Seventh round—Slavin appeared to be greatly refreshed, and rallied to the fight. He fought with the tenacity of a bulldog, but the sledgehammer blows delivered by Jackson were telling on him.

Eighth round—This round was pretty much the same as the seventh and both men appeared to be weak, and especially Slavin.

Ninth round—Slavin's weakness increased very rapidly while Jackson seemed to gain somewhat. Jackson continued delivering his left in Slavin's face with the telling effect.

Tenth round—Jackson kept up his heavy punishment and delivered blow after blow about the face, neck and body. He then swung his right heavily under Slavin's heart and followed this blow quickly with his left in Slavin's face. This move he repeated several times. Finally Slavin dropped into his corner and did not respond to the call of time. Thereupon Referee Angle awarded the fight to Jackson.

Slavin was very badly punished. Jackson escaped unhit except for a light graze on the shoulder. Jackson had the best of the fight throughout all ten rounds. He showed better science and more physical strength. He also showed that he was a hard fighter. The fight was a game one, and Slavin still retains his friends and backers. The fight lasted twenty-eight and one-half minutes, and everybody here pronounced it a good one.

An Eight Round Knock Out.

CONEY ISLAND, May 31.—There was a large attendance at the Coney Island Athletic club last night. It was the largest that ever attended any of the fights that have taken place under the auspices of the club. The bounties were between Cal McCarthy, ex-featherweight champion of America, and Bobby Burns of Providence, for a purse of $2,500. Al Smith was referee. After fighting thirty minutes Burns declared the winner at the end of the eighth round.

FIRE AND PLAGUE.

A Terrible State of Affairs Existing in India.

CALCUTTA, May 31.—Dispatches from Srinagar say that the whole district is panic stricken by fire and plague. The cholera is raging with unprecedented violence. In the last week one hundred deaths have been reported and probably half as many more persons have died without any record or notice to the authorities.

In the rural portions of the district all work has ceased. The people die by the roadside and in the village streets with nobody to nurse them or bury them. On account of the tardiness of burials the air of the worst villages is polluted by horrible odors and the ravages of the disease are accelerated from day to day.

The apparent hopelessness of their condition has driven most of the population to theft and plunder. To accomplish their purposes, the lowest classes have resorted to arson, and hardly a night passes in a village of any size without the setting of two or three fires. In the capital district the buildings have been almost completely wiped out by fire. Early in the week a cluster of huts on the bank of the River Julum were set on fire, and a high wind spread the flames throughout the adjoining portion of the city.

Srinagar is poorly built and the native huts are clustered more closely even than in most other cities. The brands and sparks were blown so rapidly from hut to hut that the inhabitants had no time to try to stay the flames. They ran, shouting and screaming through the streets, and many in their terror plunged into the river and were drowned. Those in the section of the city furthest from the river ran to the fields and hills where they still live without shelter. About two-thirds of the city on that side of the river where the fire started was destroyed.

On the following night the fire was started on the other side of the river. There was no wind, and at first comparatively little danger was apprehended. Flames in another quarter, however, soon frightened the inhabitants, who believed that they were about to suffer, as had their fellows across the river. The people started in droves to leave the city, and no effort was made to stop the progress of the flames. Several other fires were started in the panic, and before morning one-half the rest of the city was in ashes. Four thousand families are homeless, and about 30,000 men, women and children are now living with little or no food.

The daily deaths are numbered by dozens. Hundreds are ill with cholera when the fires were started, and the exposure and lack of medical attendance have increased the prevalence of the disease, as well as its fatality two-fold. Help has been dispatched from Lahore, about 200 miles distant, but the relief corps is too small to give material aid to the great mass of sufferers. The natives have been too much crushed by the plague, and the loss of their homes, to help themselves and those who are not struggling with death or disease, smoke in dazed indifference or squat round the ruins bemoaning their misfortunes.

The condition of affairs in other parts of the district is less appalling only because there are no other cities of any size. In many of the villages the fires have been proportionately as destructive as at the capital. In the whole district of Srinagar, it is estimated 50,000 are homeless.

Attempted Assassination.

GREENSBRO, Ind., May 31.—While Seth S. Cope, of this place, was lying in bed asleep, about the midnight hour, an unknown party attempted his assassination, firing through the partially-opened blind. The bullet lodged in the pillow on which rested Mr. Cope's head.

Final Play Suspected.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., May 31.—The dead body of James Wilburn was found on the railway track last Saturday. It is thought he was robbed and murdered.

A MODERN MONTE CRISTO.
After an Adventurous Life He Finds Himself a Millionaire.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Washington has had a novelty this year in the person of a genuine old-fashioned Monte Cristo. His name is F. L. DeLamar, and he is an Alsatian by birth. He is the son of a poor mechanic, but now has an assured income of $1,000 a week to say nothing of the interest on $12,000,000. His parents were so poor that they did not have the wherewithal to take care of him, and at the age of fourteen he shipped before the mast of a trading vessel bound to Africa.

When he reached the coast he deserted the ship and struck out for the interior of the country. Here for several years he carried on trade with the savages, giving them bright cloths, beads and the like in return for ivory, and making an enormous profit. He then took passage for Europe. The ship upon which he sailed had not gone far off from the shore when it struck a rock and went to pieces.

DeLamar bought the wreck, learned the diving trade and made a large amount of money out of raising the cargo. He was so pleased at his first success in the diving line that he at once went to work as a regular diver and spent several years in that business. He practiced his art in all parts of the world and several times came near losing his life in his expeditions on the bottom of the sea.

Finally he concluded that this was too dangerous business so he came to the United States and went west to make his fortune in mining. But after remaining there a short time he decided that it was not luck that found mines, but knowledge and skill, and that if he wished to succeed he must know what he was doing, so he came back to Chicago and there spent two years in learning the science of mineralogy and chemistry.

He then went west again and for two years and over he wandered about trying to find a spot where he could locate a mine that would promise to turn out successfully. At last he found a mountain, bought it, started a shaft into each of the four sides of the mountain, and soon discovered that his mine was a tremendous success. For over three years he worked his mine, and in that time took out $1,000,000 of ore.

Then the omnipresent English syndicate came along and he sold out the mine for $3,000,000 retaining a considerable interest in it, and an interest that pays him $1,000 every week. Then he started east to enjoy his money.

Since that time he has been enjoying it and he has just set out for Europe to have a steam yacht built for him in Scotland, as he could find none in this country that would suit his fastidious tastes.

He has been the man this winter upon whom have been the eyes of fond mothers and matrimonially inclined daughters, but he has sailed away from these shores heart free. He has lived in the finest suite of rooms to be had at the Arlington, and his money has been thrown right and left with lavish hand.

He kept five horses, three of them imported stallions, which he drives abreast in the Russian style, with a Russian footman and driver. He has done nothing by halves, and his entertainments in the way of dinners and the like have been the finest given in Washington.

His constant friend here has been Russell Harrison, and the "enfant terrible" of the administration has been the partner of many of his joys during the winter. DeLamar and Russell became acquainted when the latter was at Helena, Mont., before he arrived at the dignity of being a president's son, and when the former was hunting for the mine.

Young Harrison became DeLamar's guide into Washington society and a very good one he is, too. There is one way in which the young Monte Cristo will not lose his stocks. But Wall street did not treat him kindly and he lost it all, being obliged to start for the west with a very scanty financial outfit.

HIGHEST EVER RECORDED.

Latest Flood Reports from the Lower Mississippi.

NEW ORLEANS, May 31.—Last night the cheering information was wired to New Orleans that the break in the levees at the Lessier place had been closed at 5 o'clock. The work is regarded in engineering circles here as an excellent achievement, and the closing of the river at as high stage as it now is gives promise of the closing of many of the other crevasses along the river and Bayou la Forche.

The river yesterday reached the highest stage ever known in this city and is now on a stand. At 4 o'clock the gauge showed a height of 17.4 feet, two-tenths higher than ever before known.

A dispatch from Shreveport, La., says: The caissons under the east span of the Vicksburg-Shreveport railway bridge, over Red river at this point, was washed away yesterday. The span fell into the river and the entire structure will probably go. The Scorpion crevasse is now 800 feet wide and four feet deep, washing rapidly.

Wrecked by a Cow.

LEMON, Ills., May 31.—The St. Louis express on the Santa Fe road, due at Chicago at 7:35 yesterday evening, while rounding a curve near this place struck a cow, the locomotive being derailed and thrown into the river. Engineer Isbell, of Chicago, was killed and the fireman and several passengers were slightly injured. The breaking of a coupling pin between the engine and the rest of the train prevented what might have proved a much more serious accident.

Wives for Twenty-Five Men.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The steamer Norge, from Copenhagen, which arrived at this port Sunday, brought twenty-five young women from Sweden and Norway bound for Dakota, whose avowed purpose is to seek husbands in the woolly wilds of Dakota.

RUSSIANS READY FOR WAR.

An Incident Along the Galician Frontier Which Shows the Hostile Feeling Existing Between Russia and Austria. Bloodshed Saved by a Peasant.

VIENNA, May 31.—The spectacle of Russian troops marching in hostile array against the Austrian forces was witnessed yesterday at the Galician frontier near Radzivilou. The Austrian garrison of Brody, an important town of Galicia, about fifty-eight miles from the Austrian military headquarters at Lemberg, for Eastern Galicia, was out maneuvering. Brody is only a few miles from the Russian Polish frontier, and in the course of tramping about the Austrian troops unwittingly crossed the frontier into Russian territory from Radzivilou.

The whole frontier is patrolled by Cossack videttes and it did not take long for the Russian sentinels to spy the Austrian banner borne on Russian soil. The Cossacks hastened to report to the commander of the garrison at Radzivilou, and the troops were ordered to turn out prepared for battle. The Russian commander marshaled his men and then started on a hasty march in the direction where the Austrians had been seen. His avowed object, as stated to his troops, was to attack the invaders and drive them back over the frontier. Had he overtaken the Austrians a serious and sanguinary encounter would probably have been the result. Fortunately for peace the Austrian commander had his attention called by a Polish peasant friendly to Austria, as most of the Poles are, to the fact that he was on Russian territory.

A brief review of the surroundings satisfied the Austrians that they had made a mistake, and they turned their faces at once toward the frontier. Just as they were crossing the Russian troops were seen approaching in the distance at a double quick, but before the Russians got within firing range the Austrians were on their own side of the line, and there was no longer any excuse for hostilities on the Russians. The Russians acted as if they were disappointed, and their commander, after placing a strong outpost at the point where the Austrians had crossed, returned slowly to Radzivilou. The incident was at once reported by the commander to the Prince Von Windisch-Groetz, at Lemberg, general-in-command of the Austrian forces in Eastern Galicia. The affair is regarded in Vienna as of considerable significance, as showing the readiness of the Russians to seize any pretext for hostilities.

LABOR TROUBLES.

State of Affairs in the New England Granite Strike—Other Strikes.

BOSTON, May 31.—It is proposed by some of the influential members of the granite cutters' union to hold a conference, either in Boston or Concord, N. H., of all stone cutters' unions affected by the present lockout. They believe that bringing the officers of the various unions together will enable them to more successfully combat the New England Granite Manufacturers' association.

An attempt is to be made by the Boston branch of granite cutters' union to secure the assistance of bricklayers' and stonemasons' unions, thinking that these men can interrupt building operations as to seriously cripple the manufacturers if they should furnish nonunion cut stone to building contractors.

The officers of the Boston branch ridicule the statement that the granite manufacturers have won the fight because quarrymen are returning to work, and they say that the union's cause has not been lost even if every quarryman in New England goes back.

New York Pavers Return to Work.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The first break in the strike of the National Paving Cutters' union occurred yesterday. Six German pavers who are members of the union returned to work. The men in charge of the job, said they had come back of their own accord. The men said that they had not received a cent since the strike began, knowing the statement made by the union that the strikers were receiving their regular pay. The contractors say that this is the first step toward a complete victory for them. In a few days they think that several hundred of the non-union pavers will resume work

The lead trust is one of the most gigantic in the land. Its capital stock is $30,000,000, and it controls all the works in that line in the country.

An interesting bit of news comes from Louisville via Frankfort and Covington. General Basil Duke, of Falls City, was at the State Capital yesterday and he says Henry Watterson stated in the presence of gentlemen Saturday night that he believed Cleveland would be nominated. He further said that if Blaine was nominated at Minneapolis, he, Watterson, would move Cleveland's nomination by acclamation.

WILL SUPPORT HIM.

Tammany Changing Front and Willing to Accept Cleveland on Conditions.

The leaders of the May convention have already received intimations from Tammany that that organization is not disposed to carry on any factional fight at Chicago, says a New York special to the Louisville Post. These intimations are informal and in one sense irresponsible, but they indicate that Tammany is anxious to put itself in such a position that it may be on the winning side, no matter who the winner may be. The Tammany leaders have been quicker to see the growth of the anti-Hill sentiment than Hill himself, and have no intention of being crushed beneath the weight of his ambition.

It is for this reason the Cleveland leaders have received these informal intimations that Tammany has no hostility to Cleveland, and will cheerfully support him in case the sentiment of the convention is in favor of his nomination. Tammany, however, requires just one promise, and that is that in case it supports Cleveland and makes no violent opposition to the claims of the May convention at Chicago, it shall receive as an equivalent a promise that no Democratic opposition to the Tammany city and county ticket shall be made next fall.

There are some things which indicate that Senator Hill has in mind a concentration upon General Slocum. The General is a popular Democrat and would command the support of Brooklyn delegates although it might be difficult to secure those who represent Tammany Hall. He does not seem, however, to be particularly excited by these reports, and he is not entirely convinced of the sincerity of Senator Hill's purpose.

Our Centennial.

Maysville does not propose a great "burgo feast," like Lexington, or a "grand banquet" like the Falls City, yet she will hold interesting memorial exercises in honor of the admission of Kentucky into the sisterhood of States. These exercises, whilst they may not be organized or conducted on so imposing a scale as those on the Elkhorn and Beargrass, will serve to give the citizens of this city a conception of what a storehouse of historical records our Public Library already is. These records amply illustrate the history of the city, the county and the State. The exhibition which will be made by the art students would not discredit the Queen City itself. The enthusiasm exhibited by this exhibition promises the happiest results. A spirit is abroad which, if properly utilized, will enable the directors to erect, at a very early date, a much needed structure in front of the present book room, and thereby enlarge and extend its usefulness as a great public educator, and as an auxiliary of the public schools of our city.

In connection with this announcement it is pertinent to recall the fact that many years ago the centennial anniversary of the first corn planting in Kentucky by General Simon Kenton, in May, 1775, was celebrated with great eclat, under the auspices of our Historical Society, which was organized that centennial year. The celebration was held in beautiful blue grass woodland near Kenton's Station. There were ten thousand people entertained at the great barbecue. Henry T. Stanton was the sacred poet of the occasion, and the veteran pioneer soldier and comrade of Kenton, General Leslie Combs, was the orator of the day.

DECORATION DAY.

The Graves of the Fallen Strewn with Flowers—Memorial Exercises at Cemetery.

"Weary march and battle sore
Past for them for evermore!
While the cheering light of day
Shines on Blue and shines on Gray,
Very peacefully they rest—
And the babes, whose cheeks they pressed
In a last good-by, have stood
O'er their graves in proud manhood,
And in holy wedlock true
Plighted hearts of Gray and Blue,
In the light of hearthstone fires
Tell the deeds of soldiers' sires."

Decoration Day was fittingly observed here yesterday. The weather was fine, and several hundred people visited the cemeteries in the afternoon.

The members of Joseph Heiser Post, G. A. R., and of the Woman's Relief Corps, and M. C. Hutchin's Camp, Sons Veterans, went out in body. They were accompanied by a band of little girls dressed in white, one representing each State in the Union. The colored veterans went out later in the afternoon.

At the cemetery, the graves of their fallen comrades were strewn with flowers. Nor were those who sleep in far off fields forgotten.

Afterwards came the memorial exercises and then the addresses of the day by Judge Deming, of Mt. Olivet, and Dr. Mannon, of Augusta. The speakers paid eloquent tributes to the veterans who shed their blood for their country and the Union.

Postmaster Davis delivered a memorial address at Augusta, and Captain Hutchins was one of the orators of the day at Brooksville.

Musical and Literary Entertainment.

Under the auspices of the ladies of the Missionary Society of the Lewisburg Baptist Church, musical and literary entertainment will be given at the residence of Squire J. M. Alexander Friday evening, June 3, by Professor A. Frost and eight of his pupils of that neighborhood, assisted by some of the best talent of this city. Admission 35 cents.

After the programme is rendered, refreshments, consisting of ice cream, strawberries, cake &c., will be served free of charge to every ticket holder. Proceeds for the benefit of the church. Let all turn out and aid in a worthy cause.

Attenton, K. of P.

The members of Limestone Lodge No. 36, K. of P., and of Maysville Division No. 6, U. R., are notified to meet at Castle Hall, Thursday, June 2, promptly at 2 p. m. The members of the Uniform Rank will come fully equipped. Conveyances will leave the hall at 3 p. m. promptly for Flemingsburg where a lodge will be instituted. Fare for the round trip only sixty cents.

Blacksmith Coal.

William Wormald has just received a large load of superior Youghiogheny lump coal for smithing purposes.

One night last week, Moses O'Brien, telegraph operator at Springdale, was knocked down on Third street, Fifth ward, and robbed of a small sum of money. Charles Fields, John Iles and Hord Loughridge, all colored, are in custody charged with the offense. The latter was caught in Cincinnati, and was brought back yesterday by Captain Heflin. They will be tried this evening at 7 o'clock before Squire Grant.

Mrs. NANCY SMITH, of Carter County, was divorced from her husband, an old soldier, in 1868, but notwithstanding that fact applied for a pension in 1889, representing herself as his widow. She received $2,600 and deposited $1,500 in the First National Bank at Ironton, Ohio. The Government brought suit to recover the money, but before action could be taken, Mrs. Smith, becoming aware of the claim, transferred her money in the bank to her son-in-law, Melvin Martin. Her defense was that she gave the money to Martin for taking care of her without knowing of the claim of the Government. But the court has decided that her defense is no good, and the bank will have to pay over the money to Uncle Sam.

BLUE LICK SPRINGS.

The "Pavilion Hotel" opens June 1. Parlor, reception, dining, "Arioso Hall" all refitted and refurnished and every chamber dressed in white; lawn and fences and outbuildings cleaner than for years. The lessee and his wife have made everything as neat and tidy as a new ribbon. Handsome piano in parlor. The orchestra for the season will arrive in time to play for the opening hop, Friday, June 17. The Rafferty saloon has been closed, and the dwelling is now occupied by Rev. Stacey, a Baptist preacher, which, with a plucky landlord at the Pavilion, insures peace and good order at the Springs. A saw and planing mill plant has been put in just above the suspension bridge with improved machinery and a large supply of cannel coal rafted down on the Licking from Morgan County. Mr. Frank Lindsay proposes to have a miniature steamboat to ply between this point and Pleasant Valley, connecting with railway trains at Parks' Hill. Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Bland promise their guests pleasant quarters, polite attention and good fare.

SARDIS.

Miss Linna Turner, of Mt. Carmel, is brightening the home of Miss Katie Wightman.

Miss Mayme O. Rogers is the bright and attractive guest of Miss Emma Browning, at "The Oaks".

Mrs. Lizzie Bland Williams, of Mayslick, is one of the sympathetic watchers at the bedside of her invalid brother, Mr. Charles Bland.

Squire Grigsby reports a pleasant visit to Springdale, and says the BULLETIN correspondent at that point is a lady, and a very attractive one. Later on we shall see.

All the tobacco planters finished who had had ground ready and a full supply of plants. John Mawion, of Mayslick, made the largest setting reported—thirty-six acres on his Lawwill and Shanklin farms. He has six stalwart sons always ready and willing to work.

A note from Rev. Dr. Anderson says: "I have to announce, in view of my unfeebled and prostrate physical condition, after months of severe sickness and by the advice of physicians, the deferral of any ministerial engagements, perhaps until the next session of our conference."

Mrs. Amanda Watson, one of the pleasant ladies of Maysville, is visiting her friends here and in this vicinity. She has been handsomely entertained at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Grigsby, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Arthur, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Watson and Mrs. Sophia Arthur and Mrs. Dr. Browning.

J. D. Peed and H. D. Watson, the new tobacco buyers of Maysville, were out in the Forman Chapel neighborhood Friday and purchased crops as follows: Jacob Kohlmeier's at $3.50, D. Dodson's at $3, John Collins' at $10, C. C. Arthur's at $9.50, and on to Mayslick where they bought C. J. Arthur's at $9.50, and on to Mayslick where they took in Alex. Duke's at $3.50 per hundred, in bulkling order.

The way the BULLETIN circulates, the local correspondence read at distant points is proof positive. Notice of the Shannon and Forman Chapel corporation had only been published one week before the Secretary received from a Baltimore rubber stamp company an offer to furnish seal and press similar to impression for said corporation. The next mail bore pretty specimens of stock certificates to be issued to the subscribers from an Atlanta firm. The little daily goes without saying, and every item of news is scanned by the business as well as the society folks.

Having been an attentive reader of his editorial paragraphs for the last five years, it is no idle compliment for the writer to say he sadly misses Bruce Champ, of the Bourbon News. When he threw the editorial lance it did not shine mildly, it glittered and scintillated. His currente calmo commentaries on men, things, society and politics emitted sparks of wit and wisdom. He and Craddock were editorial antipodes. Publishing newspapers in the same town their tastes and talents and idiosyncrasies were so different one could read the semi-weekly work of each with equal pleasure. They didn't walk in the same paths, nor did they think alike, or write alike, hence many persons patronized both papers for their individual excellencies and special features.

WEEKLY REVIEW OF THE CINCINNATI TOBACCO MARKET.

The offerings at auction for the week just closed were 1,897 hds., classed as follows: 541 hds. Mason County (Ky.) District, 378 hds. Pendleton County (Ky.) District, 239 hds. Owen County (Ky.) District, 282 Blue Grass (Ky.) District, 443 hds. Brown County (O.) District, and 14 hds. West Virginia, of which 1,443 hds. were new, against 1,338 hds. the previous week, of which 813 hds. were new, and 1,611 hds. the corresponding week last year, of which 706 hds. were new. Total offerings for the year to date 49,760 hds. of which 26,548 hds. were new, against 48,550 hds. same time last year, of which 19,943 hds. were new.

Receipts for the week..... 1,569
Receipts same week last year..... 1,209

The offerings were much larger than previous week, and there was a very marked increase in the receipts. An improvement was shown, there being more spirit in the bidding and a firm, active market prevailed throughout the week. Rejections were light and the business satisfactory.

A fair offering of old tobacco was shown, and while in good demand prices were not satisfactory, but holders are letting it go, as they do not want to hold any longer. There was a marked improvement in the demand for all classes of medium and prime and provision tobacco, common trash, lugs and nondescripts showed an active demand, and are bringing full prices.

Common and medium leaf was in good request, and is selling well. There was comparatively a good display of good and fine leaf, for which the demand was active, buyers showing a disposition to take this kind at full figures.

Of the 1,443 hds. (new) 33 sold from $1 to $3.95, 218 from $1.95, 524 from $2 to $7.95, 170 from $8 to $9.95, 310 from $10 to $14.75, 149 from $15 to $19.25, 79 from $20 to $24 and 1 at $25.

Of the 454 hds. (old), 19 sold from $2.40 to $3.90, 70 from $4 to $7.50, 34 from $6 to $14.75 and 1 at $16.

PORK PACKING AND PROVISIONS.

[Cincinnati Price Current, May 26.]

The marketing of hogs has continued on a liberal scale, the week's packing in the West showing a total of 305,000, compared with 315,000 the preceding week, and 225,000 for the corresponding time last year. From March 1 the total is 2,610,000 hogs, against 2,555,000 a year ago—increase 55,000. The quality of current offerings is generally good, although in some markets the average weight is considerably less than a year ago. There has been a good demand for hogs in leading centers, and prices have been maintained, the average at the close being slightly higher than last week. Quite likely the marketing will continue liberal for some time, it is doubtful if it will exceed the current movement.

The confidence of operators is sustained by the good demand for products, both for domestic distribution and exportation, and the outlook is regarded as not pointing to inconvenient supplies. There has been more speculative interest shown in the trade the past week, and prices have shifted considerably at times, closing with a gain of 50 cents on pork, 12½ cents per 100 pounds on lard and 25 cents on short rib sides, at Chicago, for July delivery. The week's export clearances of product were quite liberal, showing a large gain over corresponding period last year in both meats and lard.

WORK COMMENCED.

The Fuel Gas Company Laying Mains.
Ground Broken for the Big Holder.

List of the Stockholders, Officers and Directors—Shares Can Yet
Be Secured.

Second street, just west of Sutton, presents a busy scene to-day.

The work of laying mains was commenced by the Maysville Fuel Company this morning, and about sixty hands are now employed. Superintendent January has charge.

Ground has also been broken and the excavation is being made for the 100,000-cubic-foot gas holder in the West End. All the machinery, &c., has been ordered and is now being built, and the company expects to be ready to furnish fuel gas to the people of Maysville, west of Bridge street, by from the 1st to the 15th of September next.

At a meeting of the stockholders held last week the capital stock of the company was increased from $30,000 to $50,000, and the directory put at once $5,000 of the new stock on the market. At this date there has been $33,140 taken, all told, leaving yet untaken of the $35,000 the sum of $1,860, or 186 shares of $10 each. The company in getting the stock taken has not had a close canvass of the city made, and they say an opportunity is now given, to those not already interested, to secure some of these shares. The company would prefer same taken by 186 people, so that as many of the people of Maysville may be interested as possible. Call on the Secretary at First National Bank.

The present stockholders of the company are M. C. Russell, Thomas R. Phister, T. A. Keith, Dr. J. M. Frazee, W. H. Wadsworth, Sr., Dr. John T. Fleming, Colonel Frank S. Owings, Daniel Perrine, Thomas Wells, W. W. Ball, Dr. J. T. Strode, J. C. Adamson, E. P. Browning, H. C. Barkley, W. Mathews, Ben Longnecker, Pogue & Thomas, John W. Boulden, H. T. Boulden, Mary T. Metcalfe, John Windsor Sharp, J. T. Frazee, Mary M. Myall, Jas. H. Dodson, Mrs. Fannie Harbeson, John W. Bramel, Charles F. Ball, John Ballenger, S. M. Worthington, J. J. Shackelford, J. James Wood, T. M. Pearce, A. Weiand, Dr. Thomas E. Pickett, J. T. Kackley, W. C. Miner, John T. Parker, P. P. Parker, George Collier, John R. Brodt, George S. Rosser, M. J. McCarthy, John W. Alexander, E. A. Robinson, Mrs. Laura G. Collins, Evan Lloyd, Mrs. Mary G. Clark, T. J. Black, Mrs. Dr. J. T. Strode, I. M. Lane, W. B. Mathews, Clarence Mathews, J. I. Salisbury, J. L. Brown, Thomas L. Best, Mrs. Dr. C. C. Owens, Omar Dodson, C. C. Hopper, Dr. John A. Reed, D. Hechinger, Mrs. Bettie Allen, Thomas M. Allen, Ida Belle Allen, J. D. Peed, J. J. Perrine, E. D. Pickett, D. C. Frazee, Turner Bramel, Dr. T. H. N. Smith, James E. Threlkeld, John C. Mayo, S. B. Oldham, Mrs. M. L. H. Donaphan, C. C. Dobyns, M. A. O'Hare, Rev. J. E. Wright, A. R. Glascock, W. B. Carpenter, T. M. Dora, F. M. Carr and Joseph Robinson.

There has been elected by the stockholders the following Directors: Dr. J. T. Fleming, M. C. Russell, W. H. Wadsworth, T. A. Keith and Thos. R. Phister, and the Directors have elected Dr. J. T. Fleming, President, M. C. Russell, Vice President, W. W. Ball, Secretary and Treasurer and W. H. January, Superintendent.

The company feel warranted in saying that the question of fuel gas is no longer an experiment, and that by the Harris process it can be made cheaper and better than by any other. Fuel gas is used at Terre Haute, Ind., and in Hyde Park, Chicago. The gas at Hyde Park is known as a water gas. The company is capitalized at $1,000,000. Their gas costs them 18 cents a thousand feet to make; if they sell it to consumers at 50 cents per thousand, and still they paid their stockholders 8 per cent. dividend last year, and by an analysis made the Harris gas has 25 per cent. more heat units than that. The Maysville company, with a plant costing $35,000 to $45,000, can make gas at a cost of less than 5 cents per 1,000 feet. At the rate of 50 cents per 1,000 feet to consumers, there are those who feel that nothing has ever been started in Maysville that would pay as much to the stockholders and be of greater benefit to the city.

The company is ready to take orders from those who desire to have the gas put in their houses, and the connections etc., can be better made and at less expense while the mains are being put down.

The company's Superintendent, Mr. January, will give any information desired, and take your order.

Governor Brown yesterday appointed R. A. Spurr, of Fayette County; Robert Riddell, of Estill County; D. C. James, of Fayette, and W. L. Davis, of Bourbon, as Trustees of the A. and M. College at Lexington for four years, and the appointments were confirmed by the Senate.

ILLUME was ruled off the Latonia race course last Saturday, along with his controlling owner Thomas Anderson, and also John Paul, his trainer, and J. Paul, jockey. The horse won Saturday and made such fast time that the judges decided he had been pulled in a race he lost four days before. Anderson explained that the track had been so bad in the first race that he could not work the horse properly, and he was not in condition that day. But the judges would not take the explanation. The horse is owned by Anderson & Gooding.

THE LEGISLATURE.

A Resolution Providing for Afternoon Session's Adopted—Another Veto—Other Matters.

In the House yesterday the resolution providing for afternoon sessions was called up and adopted, although it was opposed by some of the best members. The Committee on Criminal Law reported adversely Mr. McInerney's bill to suppress the publication of obscene literature, and it was killed.

The same committee reported adversely Mr. Severs' bill to limit peremptory challenges in criminal trials to four on each side. It was ordered to its second reading, the adverse report notwithstanding.

The Revisory Commission's chapter on fugitives from justice was reported in the form of a bill, and read the first time.

Governor Brown sent in a veto of Mr. Myers' bill to authorize the purchase by the city of Covington of such parts of the Covington and Lexington turnpike as lie within the city limits. The Governor thinks it probably unconstitutional on three different points. Mr. Meyers withdrew the bill, and one of a general nature will be introduced by him.

The bill amending subsection 3 of section 736 of the Civil Code was passed by the House. The amendment reads: "For an appellee constructively summoned in the Court of Appeals, the clerk of that court shall appoint an attorney, whose duties it shall be to inform the appellee of the pendency of the appeal, and the court may allow him reasonable compensation for his services, to be paid by appellant and taxed in the costs."

The Hart Coal Oil Inspection bill was postponed.

The Senate spent most of its time on the school bill, but several bills, among them the one increasing the State tax rate, were favorably reported and placed in the orders of the day.

The Redistricting bill and the Penitentiary bill are special orders for to-day.

Bishop Hendrix, of Missouri, will preach the opening sermon June 5. This body was organized about fourteen years ago and has mission stations in China, South America and Mexico, and on the Texas border. They have raised during these years about half a million dollars to carry on their work.

In the case of Scruggs against Meyer & Co., taken up from Fleming, Judge Brent of the Superior Court in affirming says: "This court must give some weight in every doubtful question of fact to the determination of the court below, and while it will not hesitate to reverse when the judgment is clearly against the preponderance of the evidence in cases tried on the equity side of the docket, it is always reluctant to do so where there is anything like an equipoise of conflicting proof."

"In this case an attachment sued out upon the ground that plaintiff had not enough property to satisfy plaintiff's demand etc., having been discharged by the lower court, this court will not disturb the judgment, the proof as to whether the value of the property was greater than the amount of plaintiff's demand being conflicting."

HEARD FROM AGAIN.

Charles Weems in Jail at Morristown, Tennessee.

HIS FLIGHT FROM THE MOBS.

How the Chattanooga Rapist Escaped from the Hundreds of Armed Men Who Were Thirsting for His Blood—The Danger Not Yet Over.

NEW YORK, May 31.—A special dispatch to the Press from Morristown, Tenn., says that Charles Weems, the negro charged with attempting to assault a white woman at Chattanooga, on May 19, is in jail at that place. Weems was arrested after the alleged assault and jailed at Chattanooga. The next night a mob captured the jail, only to find that Weems had been spirited away. His whereabouts were unknown until located twenty-four hours later. The mob became rampant and a second riot followed in the capital city, in which a dozen men were hurt, one seriously. A fire engine was sent whirling through the streets to draw the crowd from the jail, but it did not break. The police forced the crowd back, while Weems, in the garb of the jail cook, boldly walked out and joined the officers at the depot.

Then began a race that outclassed anything this state and probably any other has ever seen. Weems was taken to Guthrie, Ky., but was compelled to leave in an hour to avoid a mob. The telegraph operators along the railroads joined in and as far as possible kept the towns ahead informed. Weems was taken to Clarksville that night. A mob surrounded the jail at midnight. Weems and Jailer Held and Deputy Sheriff Eller, of Chattanooga, all heavily armed with cocked revolvers, marched through the crowd to the depot. The train waited at every station on the way back to Nashville. Late as it was armed men paced the station platforms and made ugly threats. When Nashville was reached, the officials refused to take Weems. A start was made for Chattanooga, but not before twenty-five armed men had come aboard and announced their intention of staying by Weems until lynched.

Every town along the route furnished menacing crowds, and guns were thrust through the car windows. At Tullahoma a thousand people stood on the track and stopped the train. Thomas Carpenter, the leading citizen, made an eloquent address and the lynching was postponed.

Chattanooga had been informed of Weems' coming, and a mob had gone out to Wauhatchie, six miles from the city, to lynch him. The officers heard of it at Hooker, and, while the train was running twenty miles an hour, Weems was thrown off the car, the officers jumping after, followed by four of the armed men, who were captured, disarmed and tied to trees, while the trio took to the mountains, tramping for eighteen hours over Raccoon and Lookout mountains, fording streams and plunging through forests in the blackest night, to Ooltewah, Ga.

All through the night they heard their pursuers and saw their torches. At Ooltewah, which was reached at daybreak, they took a train for Knoxville, which was reached in the afternoon. Weems was denied admission to the jail, as he had been at Lebanon, Athens, Cleveland and other points, and was brought on to this place, where he was locked up. In five days he traveled over 1,000 miles, saw over 200 miles ready to lynch him, was refused admission to a score of jails, traveled twenty-five miles over the worst mountains of the state, was shot at, visited three states and was so near two others that he could see them. If the story could be told in all its details of stratagems, narrow escapes, exciting encounters, wild rides, lonely walks and agonies of suspense, it would outrival a novel. Weems claims the woman met him by appointment.

IN THE OTHER'S WAKE.

Another Destructive Storm Passes Over Kansas.

WICHITA, Kan., May 31.—Two distinct tornadoes passed from southwest to north east north of Caldwell Sunday night, carrying everything before them. One man is known to have been killed and much damage was done to farm property.

The funnel-shaped clouds were distinctly visible from both Caldwell and Conway Springs, but no details of the destruction have been obtainable yet.

Heavy Loss to Farmers.

CORWIN, Kan., May 31.—A small tornado passed north of this city Sunday afternoon doing an immense amount of damage to the farming community, uprooting trees and tearing down dwellings and barns. No report of loss of life or injuries has been received. One farmer lost ten head of cattle and three horses. A report comes from Freeport that a boy named McDaniels had his leg broken by a flying timber.

FIVE HOUSES BLOWN DOWN.

MEDICINE LODGE, Kan., May 31.—A report has been received here that a small tornado struck the country near Roundup, twelve miles southeast of here Sunday evening, and tore down five houses, but injured no one. The people had sufficient warning to escape to their cellars.

Waterspout Near Attica, Kansas.

ATTICA, May 31.—A waterspout formed northwest of this place Sunday evening about 5 o'clock and for about an hour the whole country was flooded to such an extent that wheat was washed from the ground, and several head of cattle drowned.

Found After Months.

WHEELING, May 31.—The body of D. M. Carey, of New York, who was drowned in Wheeling creek last February, was found yesterday in the Ohio river at Moundsville, twelve miles below this city.

Wheat Burned.

PARIS, May 31.—D'Arblay's mills at Corbeil, with 70,000 bushels of wheat, was burned Monday. Twenty employees were injured, some perhaps fatally.

ROYAL VISIT.

Queen Wilhelmina and Her Mother Now in Berlin.

BERLIN, May 31.—Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands and her mother, the Queen Regent Emma, reached Potsdam from Sand at 7 o'clock yesterday evening. From Frankfort they came on a special train. They were received in great state. At the station were Emperor William, the Empress Augusta Victoria, Crown Prince William, Princes Eitel Frederick, Adalbert, August William, Oscar and Joachim, Count Bothe Zu Eulenburg, the Duchess of Edinburgh and the Princes Marie, General Von Kaisenborn-Stachau, Minister of the Interior Heerfurth, Count Von Wedel, chief of the emperor's household, many members of the general staff, the commander of the garrison in Potsdam, Freiherr Marschall Von Bieberstein, secretary of state for foreign affairs and about fifty officers of the guards.

The little queen, after alighting from the train, took her mother's hand. The emperor hastened forward with the empress, lifted her hand to his lips and kissed it. While he paid his respects to Queen Regent Emma in a similar manner, the empress embraced Wilhelmina, and kissed her repeatedly on the forehead and cheeks. The queen regent and empress embraced, and then the small Princess of Hohenzollern was brought forward to welcome the visitors. The little crown prince was in his new uniform of a lieutenant of the First guard. He followed gravely the example set by his father, and kissed the hand of the little queen and her mother.

After the welcome the royal parties were taken to the new palace, the emperor and crown prince driving with the queen regent and Queen Wilhelmina.

The streets from the station to the gates of the park around the palace were lined with citizens, who cheered loudly as the little queen passed. She bowed and smiled until the little emperor relieved her by taking to himself the demonstration and saluting in her stead. The houses and shops between the railway station and the palace were illuminated. Dutch and German colored flowers and palms had been built over the streets between the gates and the city hall. The station had been trimmed with bunting and surrounded with triple rows of flowers. The police and military kept the crowd back from 6:45 until the party drove away.

Queen Wilhelmina was attired in a gray traveling gown, belted at the waist and finished at the neck and sleeves with a white collar and cuffs. She wore a leghorn hat with a gray plume. She looked fatigued and pale and her smiles to the cheering crowds along the route to the palace evidently cost her a slight effort. Her four weeks in Sand have not benefited her health, it is said, as much as was expected. It is thought therefore that the emperor's elaborate program for her entertainment will be somewhat modified in respect to her mother's wishes.

The rumored plan of the emperor to arrange for the marriage of the crown prince and Queen Wilhelmina will be brought to a head, it is thought, during the Potsdam visit.

STORM AT INDIANAPOLIS.

Two Inches of Rainfall in Less Than Two Hours.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 31.—A terrific rain storm prevailed in this city for two hours yesterday evening, accompanied by vivid lightning and heavy thunder, the rainfall being nearly two inches. In the northeastern parts of the city the sewers and ditches were flooded and for squares the water was from two to three feet deep, covering the lawns and running down the streets like a millrace. Hundreds of cellars were overflowed and a great deal of damage resulted.

Lightning struck in two places within the city limits, but the damage was small. The fire department responded promptly, and the heavy rainfall rendered efficient aid in extinguishing the fires.

Jersey Cow Butter Record Beaten.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., May 31.—Lily Flag, of the Montesano dairy, here, surpassed Saturday night the world's greatest Jersey cow butter production, with four days to go on. Bisson's Belle, that led the record, in one year made 1,028 pounds 15 5-8 ounces of butter, while Lily Flag has reached 1,029 pounds 13 3-4 ounces. The official test was made by a representative of the American Jersey cattle club.

Monument to Professor Lyons.

NOTRE DAME, Ind., May 30.—A monument to the memory of the late Professor Joseph A. Lyons, who for thirty-five years held the chairs of English literature and Latin in the Notre Dame university, and well known as a dramatist and author, was unveiled here Monday. Members of the alumni of Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and other states were present to a total of several hundred.

Burned Buggies.

NEW YORK, May 31.—Shortly after half past 2 o'clock yesterday morning the carriage factory of the L. S. Remson Carriage Manufacturing company was destroyed by fire. The factory extended from 742 to 750 Grand street, a distance of 500 feet, and was four stories high. A heavy stock of costly carriages and buggies was stored on the first and second stories. Within half an hour the building was in flames. The loss is roughly estimated at from $50,000 to $75,000.

Crops in England.

LONDON, May 31.—The Mark Lane Express says that the improved weather has bettered all the crops. The markets are consequently dull, as though good crops were assured. Nothing, however, can now assure a bumper crop of any thing. The corn trade is in a very un-spectacular mood. English wheat is a sixpence lower in the country and a shilling in London.

Grant Monument Fund Completed.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The fund for the erection of the Grant monument has been completed. This was the announcement made, amid the cheers of the militia, at the memorial exercises Monday afternoon in front of the tomb of the deceased general.

18 years' experience in the Bureau of Pensions.

ANARCHISTS IN PARIS.

Meetings Held at a Number of Places, but No Serious Trouble Results.

PARIS, May 31.—A number of Anarchists held a meeting yesterday in the Fanbourg du Temple, at which it was resolved to continue the spreading of their propaganda by action. Several speakers praised Ravochol and advocated the robbing of the rich and murder if necessary.

The communists of this city had a demonstration in the cemetery of Pierre Chaise yesterday at the graves of the communists who were killed in 1871. A number of red flags were displayed, and a number of revolutionary speeches were made.

Boston Gets an Egyptian Antique.

The red granite column from the remains of the temple at the site of the Biblical Hanes in Egypt, procured by the Rev. Dr. W. C. Winslow, of the Egypt exploration fund, from the excavations, has just arrived at the Museum of Fine Arts. The capital is an exquisite palm leaf design, and the total weight is from six to seven tons. Only the British museum has so fine a column among its treasures.—Boston Advertiser.

Manning and Simeoni.

It is worth noting as a curious coincidence that Cardinals Manning and Simeoni were called to the cardinalate on the same day in 1875 and died on the same day in 1892. Furthermore, the last official letter written by Cardinal Manning a few days before his death was addressed to Cardinal Simeoni, the late prefect of the propaganda.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Liked His Books.

Physicians and sufferers from the grip may find a useful hint in the announcement that at a recent reception given to Rudyard Kipling, in Melbourne, a sweet young thing approached the author with this flattering remark: "Oh, Mr. Kipling, I feel so proud to have met you. When I had the influenza, your books were the only things that did me any good."—Exchange.

Coins Under a Glacier.

About 1887 a horseshoe was found under the ice of the glacier Theodul, in Switzerland, which led geologists to the idea that this pass, 3,822 meters high, was formerly not imbedded in ice. This has been further confirmed by a recent find of coins bearing the likenesses of Augustus and Diocletian.—Popular Science News.

An ingenious mail box has been offered for the approval of the government. It is operated by a timelock, which automatically displays a card announcing when the next collection will be made. It also stamps upon each letter as it drops in the very minute when it was placed in the box.

A woman in Asbury Park, N. J., is said to be in a dangerous condition through being poisoned by inhaling smoke from a cook stove filled with green wood. It is thought that the wood in the stove was covered with some poisonous vine or fungus.

Two neighbors in Stamp Creek, Ga., had a dispute about a couple of geese, and the matter was brought to court. After the costs had amounted to seventy dollars, the disputants compromised the matter by each taking one of the fowls.

There's a queer state of things in Richmond, Me., where a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has been organized, but nobody will act as its agent.
